Semi-Annual Management Report of Fund Performance

Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objectives and Strategies

The Fund invests in a diversified portfolio of emerging life science and technology companies with the objective of providing long-term capital appreciation to investors.

The Fund is closed to any further investment. The fund will be investing the capital previously raised in emerging life science and technology companies. Investors receive a 30% refundable tax credit at the time of investment. The companies in which the Fund invests must be eligible businesses in accordance with the B.C. Small Business Venture Capital Act (SBVCA). In general, this means companies based in B.C. that have less than 100 employees and carry on a business activity as specified in the SBVCA.

The Fund's strategy for achieving its objective is to invest in early stage biotech, information technology and industrial technology companies. The Fund invests in companies with superior technology, large market opportunities and experienced management. Portfolio companies include private and public companies, as well as companies from the start-up stage through to revenue. Where appropriate, the Fund seeks to build and mentor management in emerging companies to enhance shareholder value.

Risk

An investment in the Fund is highly speculative and carries significant risk. An investment in the Fund is a long-term investment. Except as noted below with respect to redemptions, over the six months ended June 30, 2010, no material or significant changes occurred that affected the overall risk level associated with the Fund.

The risks of investing in the Fund include a relatively large proportion of private company investments and early-stage concentration. A significant portion of the Fund's investments are in private companies, for which no ready market exists. Valuation of private companies for which no published market exists is subject to inherent uncertainties and the resulting values may differ from values that would have been used had a ready market existed for the investments. Adverse financial markets for emerging companies have made it difficult for the Fund to achieve liquidity on its investments at reasonable valuations. The Fund and its manager believe it is in the best interest of the Fund's shareholders to temporarily suspend redemptions until exits can be achieved at prices more reflective of true enterprise value.

The Fund has temporarily suspended redemptions. Under the SBVCA, only monies from investment income, capital gains and the proceeds of disposition of investments held for five years or more may be used to finance redemptions. Adverse financial markets for emerging companies have made it difficult for the Fund to achieve liquidity on its investments at reasonable valuations. The Fund and its manager believe it is in the best interest of the Fund's shareholders to temporarily suspend redemptions until exits can be achieved at prices more reflective of true enterprise value.

There is no market for the Fund's shares, and no market is expected to develop. Investors will not, typically, be able to dispose of their investment other than by way of redemption. In accordance with the SBVCA, investments in portfolio companies must be held for at least five years. As such, an investor's redemption of the Fund's shares is prohibited for at least five years from the date the Fund invests in eligible companies in accordance with the SBVCA. Practically speaking, investors will not be able to redeem their investment for six to seven years from the date they invested in the Fund.

Impact of market conditions

The credit crisis and global economic downturn had impacted and are expected to continue to impact operating conditions for companies in all sectors and, at least in the near-term, valuations of all companies. The Fund invests in life science and technology companies in British Columbia. These companies are normally subject to a great degree of risk and, in order to achieve their business objectives, generally have capital requirements in excess of their available resources. Typically in times of market turmoil, companies with smaller capitalizations have a tendency to show greater volatility, which is also the case in market recoveries. The Fund Manager is working closely with the majority of its portfolio investments, including both publicly-traded and privately-held investments, in an effort to ensure their viability and ultimate success so as to provide long-term capital appreciation to the investors.
