B.C. ADVANTAGE FUNDS (VCC) LTD.

Notes to Financial Statements

Six Months ended June 30, 2009 and 2008

1. Organization:

B.C. Advantage Funds (VCC) Ltd. (the Company) was incorporated under the Company Act of British Columbia on October 1, 2002 and is registered as a venture capital corporation (VCC) under the Small Business Venture Capital Act (the SBVCA). The Company is a venture capital business that focuses its investment activities on early stage technology and life sciences companies that are eligible under the SBVCA.

The Company is comprised of two distinct investment funds: the Advantage Venture Fund, and the Advantage Growth Fund, formerly named the Pender NDI Life Sciences Fund (VCC) Inc., D.B.A. Advantage Life Science Fund II, (collectively, the Funds). The Advantage Venture Fund invests in emerging technology, clean-tech and life science companies, and the Advantage Growth Fund invests in emerging technology, clean-tech and life science companies, including companies that have growing revenues, are profitable or approaching profitability and are likely to provide liquidity within a three to five years time frame. The Company may add additional investment funds in the future.

Investors' funds are invested directly in common shares of one or some combination of the Funds. The various classes of common shares rank equally and are identical in all respects, save and except for the net assets ascribed to each class of common shares.

The Funds are managed by Lions Capital Corp. (the Fund Manager), in accordance with the terms of a management agreement dated May 1, 2003, as amended October 31, 2003, September 30, 2006, April 1, 2007 and August 8, 2008 (the Management Agreement).

2. Significant accounting policies:

(a) Basis of presentation:

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP).

(b) Venture investments:

Venture investments are recorded at estimated fair value. Fair value is the value that would be agreed upon between knowledgeable and willing parties dealing at arm's length without constraint. Investment transactions are accounted for on a trade date basis. The resulting gains or losses on such transactions are recorded in operations at that time, and are determined based on the average cost of the respective investment. Changes in unrealized appreciation or depreciation of investments are also recorded in results of operations.

(i) Publicly-traded:

The fair values of the Funds' investments in portfolio companies that have quoted market values and that are publicly-traded on a recognized stock exchange are based on the closing bid quotations at the date of the financial statements.

B.C. ADVANTAGE FUNDS (VCC) LTD.

Notes to Financial Statements

Six Months ended June 30, 2009 and 2008

2. Significant accounting policies (continued):

(b) Venture investments (continued):

(ii) Privately-owned:

The fair values of the Funds' investments in portfolio companies for which no published market exists are recorded at estimated fair values. Fair values of these investments are determined on the basis of the expected realizable value of the investments if they were disposed of in an orderly manner over a reasonable period of time.

Investments are initially recorded at cost until either there is a substantial arm's length transaction or there is objective evidence that establishes a different fair value. Where there is evidence of a decline in value of an investment as indicated by an assessment of the financial condition of an investee, the carrying value of the investment is adjusted to the estimated realizable value. For investments in more mature companies, fair value may be determined through the use of established valuation models.

The process of valuing investments for which no published market exists is inevitably based on inherent uncertainties, and the resulting values may differ from values that would have been determined had a ready market existed for the investments. These differences could be material.

(c) Cash and cash equivalents:

Cash and cash equivalents consists of cash and highly liquid short-term interest-bearing securities with maturity dates of less than 90 days at inception.

(d) Sales commissions and share issue costs:

Sales commissions and other costs directly related to the issuing of common shares are recorded as a reduction in net assets when the shares are issued.

(e) Income taxes:

Income taxes are accounted for under the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes. Under the asset and liability method, future income tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases. Future income tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted or substantively enacted tax rates expected to apply when the asset is realized or the liability settled. A valuation allowance is recorded against any future income tax asset if it is more likely than not that the asset will not be realized. The effect on future income tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in operations in the period that enactment or substantive enactment occurs.

The Company files an income tax return that encompasses all the Funds. Income taxes recorded within each Fund's financial statements are determined on an individual Fund basis as if each Fund were filing a separate income tax return. Where a Fund utilizes tax deductions of another Fund, the transfer of these tax deductions is reflected in each Fund's statement of operations within income tax expense or recovery, as appropriate, and in each Fund's statement of net assets as an inter-fund receivable or payable.

B.C. ADVANTAGE FUNDS (VCC) LTD.

Notes to Financial Statements

Six Months ended June 30, 2009 and 2008

2. Significant accounting policies (continued):

(f) Stock-based compensation:

The Company has issued equity participation shares to its Fund Manager. Value is accreted to these equity participation shares when certain performance conditions are met. The value accreted to equity participation shares is accounted for by the Funds as stock-based compensation and expensed in the respective Fund's statement of operations and recorded as accrued equity participation in the related statement of net assets. However, the equity participation is actually payable only when all performance conditions (see note 9(c)) have been met and the accreted value is therefore realizable by the Fund Manager. To the extent that unrealized gains are not ultimately realized, the related equity participation accrual will be adjusted.

(g) Per common share values:

(i) Net assets for financial reporting purposes:

Net assets per common share is calculated based on the number of common shares outstanding at the year end. Income (loss) from operations per common share is calculated based on the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during the year.

(ii) Net asset value:

Net asset value (NAV) for purposes of transacting share subscriptions and redemptions adjusts net assets for financial reporting purposes to reflect publicly-traded investments at last sale price rather than closing bid price, consistent with the investment industry and as allowed by Canadian Securities Administrators. NAV is also adjusted for unamortized deferred sales commissions and share issuance costs as disclosed in note 9(d).

(h) Use of estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires the Fund Manager to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the year. Significant areas requiring the use of management estimates include estimations of the fair value of investments and assessments of the financial condition of investees that might indicate a change in value of a particular investee. Assumptions underlying investment valuations are limited by the availability of reliable data and the uncertainty of predictions concerning future events. Accordingly, by their nature, investment valuations include a subjective element. Financial results as determined by actual events could differ from those estimates and assumptions, and the difference could be material.

3. Changes in accounting standards:

(a) Significant accounting changes:

(i) Section 3855, Financial Instruments – Recognition and Measurement:

The Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants (CICA) has issued Handbook Section 3855, Financial Instruments - Recognition and Measurement (S3855) which applies to fiscal years beginning on or after October 1, 2006. The adoption of S3855 impacted the calculation of the net assets of the Funds for financial reporting purposes because it requires publicly-traded investments to be valued using bid quotations rather than the last sale prices as was the accounting policy of the Funds prior to January 1, 2007.

S3855 also requires that transaction costs, such as brokerage commissions, incurred in the purchase and sale of securities by the Funds, be charged to income from operations in the period incurred. There was no impact on opening net assets as a result of this change in accounting policy.

(ii) Section 3862, Financial Instruments – Disclosures and Section 3863, Financial Instruments – Presentation:

Section 3862, Financial Instruments – Disclosures and Section 3863 Financial Instruments – Presentation of the CICA Handbook sections enhance existing disclosure and presentation of the nature and scope of the risks associated with financial instruments as well as the way these risks are managed. These standards, which were adopted by the Company effective January 1, 2008, have no impact on the recognition or measurement of financial instruments.

(iii) Section 1535, Capital Disclosures:

Section 1535, Capital Disclosures, requires the disclosure of both qualitative and quantitative information that provides users of financial statements with information to evaluate the entity's objectives, policies, and processes for managing capital. This standard, which was adopted by the Company effective January 1, 2008, has no impact on the recognition or measurement of any financial statement items.

(b) Future accounting changes:

(i) International Financial Reporting Standards:

(d) Net assets and net asset value per common share:

Subscriptions and redemptions of the Funds are transacted at the net asset value (NAV) per common share of the respective Fund. NAV is a non-GAAP financial measure that is comprised of the net assets as determined under GAAP plus any unamortized sales commissions and share issue costs, plus, commencing January 1, 2007 (note 3(a)), an adjustment to revalue publicly-traded investments using last sale prices rather than closing bid quotations. Because NAV per share is a non-GAAP financial measure that does not have any standardized meaning prescribed by GAAP, it may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other funds.

The following are reconciliations of net assets and net assets per common share determined in accordance with GAAP to net asset value and net asset value per common share:

Credit risk is the risk associated with the inability of a third party to fulfill payment obligations. The Funds may invest in convertible debt securities of portfolio investees from time-to-time. Typically, the Funds expect these investments to be converted to equity investments within eighteen months of investment. As the Funds invest in early stage companies which generally have a limited history of operations and revenues, if any, in the event that the Funds do not convert their debt investments into equity securities, it is possible that the investee company would be unable to meet its obligations pursuant to the Funds' debt investment. Such exposure to credit risk is managed by the Fund Manager in conjunction with its overall investment evaluation and monitoring processes.

The maturity of each Fund's debt investments is disclosed in the respective Fund's Statement of Investment Portfolio. Such debt investments represent the main concentration of credit risk for the respective Fund, and, accordingly, represent the maximum credit risk exposure of the respective Fund.

(c) Liquidity risk:

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Funds will not be able to meet financial obligations as they fall due. The Funds' shares are redeemable on demand, subject to minimum holding periods as described in the Funds' prospectuses. The Funds' ability to meet these share redemptions and other financial obligations depends on the ability to sell their investments in portfolio companies. As the Funds invest in early stage technology and life science companies which generally have a limited history of operations and revenue, if any, the success of its investments is not assured. There is no assurance that any portfolio company will be able to successfully complete its development plan or sustain operations over the short term or an extended period. The Funds manage liquidity risk by becoming actively involved in their portfolio companies and continually monitoring the value of their investments.

(d) Market risk:

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate as a result of changes in market factors. Market factors include three types of risk: currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk. Such market risk exposures are managed by the Fund Manager in conjunction with its overall investment evaluation and monitoring processes.

(i) Currency risk:

Currency risk is the risk that the value of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in foreign exchange rates. The Funds are not currently exposed to currency risk.

15. Financial instruments (continued):

(d) Market risk (continued):

(ii) Interest rate risk:

Interest rate risk arises from the possibility that changes in interest rates will affect future cash flows or fair values of financial instruments. The Funds' primary interest rate risk relates to the investment of cash and cash equivalents and restricted cash. The Funds may hold also convertible debt securities of portfolio investees from time to time which the Funds expect to be converted into equity investments within eighteen months of investment. On this basis, the fair value of these investments is derived primarily from the fair value of the underlying equity of the portfolio investee. As such, the Funds do not have any significant exposure to interest rate risk.

(iii) Other price risk:

Other price risk is the risk that the market value of the Funds' equity investments will fluctuate in response to specific company developments and prospects as well as changes in economic conditions (other than those arising from currency or interest rate risk).

The Funds' investments are concentrated within the technology and life science industries. Further, the Funds investments are concentrated geographically within the Province of British Columbia. The investments are generally in early stage companies with a limited history of operations and revenues, and the fair value of these investments fluctuates primarily in response to specific company developments, rather than in response to general market conditions.

Because of these factors, sensitivity analysis that would measure the impact on the Funds' net assets from changes in the general level of market prices has not been provided as the Fund Manager believes this information would not be meaningful. Given the early development stage of the Funds' investments, there is the risk that a specific investments fair value may be reduced to nil. The Fund Manager moderates this risk through careful selection and diversification of investments within the limits of the Funds' investment objectives and strategy.

16. Capital management:

The objective of the Advantage Venture Fund and the Advantage Growth Fund is to raise equity capital and to invest it in investments that meet the Funds' investment criteria. The Funds' capital structure consists only of proceeds from share issuance, net of share issue costs including sales commissions. The Funds may make adjustments to their capital structure in light of economic conditions and the risk characteristics of its investments. As described in note 5, all Funds are subject to placing 30% of their capital raised into an investment protection account under the SBVCA. As of June 30, 2009, the Funds were in compliance with this restriction. Common shares of the Funds are generally only redeemable after five years from the date the proceeds are invested in eligible businesses. Management also has the ability to suspend redemptions in specific situations, including where the Board of Directors determines, in its sole discretion, that the redemption should not proceed.

17. Review of privately-owned venture investments:

Annually, the Funds obtain a review by an independent Chartered Business Valuator of the aggregate estimated fair value of the Funds' venture investments for which no public market exists, calculated in accordance with the Funds' internal valuation policies and with the principles outlined in the Funds' prospectus.

17. Review of privately-owned venture investments (continued):

The scope of the review by the Chartered Business Valuator consists mainly of a review of working papers and investment files prepared on behalf of the Funds by the Fund Manager, consideration of the appropriateness of the valuation methodology employed by the Funds and an assessment of the reasonableness of assumptions and conclusions. Based on the scope of the review, the Chartered Business Valuator provides an opinion to the Audit and Valuation Committee of the Funds as to the reasonableness of the aggregate estimated fair value of the Funds' privately-owned investments.
